LIEUT.-COL. YATES, McGILL HOSPITAL, DIES IN ENGLAND

Second in Command and Company Officer No. 3 General.

22 YEARS A SOLDIER

Death Was Due to Cold Caught
While Serving in France
With Hospital.

Devotion to duty while on active service with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill) in France led to the death in Ramsgate early Saturday morning of Lieut.-Col. Henry Brydges Yates, Med. '93, second in command and company officer of No. 3 General Hospital. The news of the death of Lieut.-Col. Yates was conveyed by cable to Colonel H. S. Birkett, Med. '86, officer commanding the hospital, who is at present in Montreal on leave. The cablegram merely stated that Lieut.-Col. Yates had died at an early hour Saturday morning at the Granville Special Canadian Hospital at Ramsgate. It was signed by Surgeon-General G. Carleton Jones, head of the Canadian Army Medical Services.

Though definite information as to the cause of Lieut.-Col. Yates' death is lacking, it was presumably due to pneumonia. Lieut.-Col. Yates showed the first symptoms of illness in November last in the way of a cold. He was placed in No. 3 General Hospital at that time. Owing to the severe climatic conditions then prevailing, however, it was thought advisable by Lieut.-Col. John McCrae, chief of the medical division of the hospital, in consultation with Sir John Rose Bradford to invalid him to England. In the course of a few days this was done. Lieut.-Col. Yates being taken to the Granville Special Canadian Hospital at Ramsgate. In spite of everything, he made very little progress, and Col. Birkett, who was kept informed as to his condition, five days ago received a cablegram stating that his condition was dangerous. As he had heard no further word, the news of the death of Lieut.-Col. Yates came as a shock to his commanding officer.

Col. Birkett's Tribute.

"I had known Lieut.-Col. Yates ever since he was a student at McGill," said Colonel Birkett to the McGill Daily on Saturday, "and my association with him had always been of the most pleasant kind. He was amiable, conscientious in the discharge of his duties, and in every way a true soldier. I cannot express in words sufficiently appreciative the value of his services to the McGill unit, and cannot speak too highly of his unswerving loyalty not only to the commanding officer, but to the interests of the unit itself. He was very popular with all ranks, and took a keen interest in the welfare of the men. His loss is irreparable."

Colonel Birkett stated that Lieut.-Col. J. M. Elder, Arts '81, Med. '85, will succeed the late Lieut.-Col. Yates as second in command of No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill), while Lieut.-Col. John McCrae will assume the duties of company officer.

The late Lieut.-Col. Yates was born in this city on May 10, 1865, the son of Henry Yates, a civil engineer, and Emily Sapey. Both his father and mother were of English birth. At an early age he was sent to England for his schooling, and after passing through Charterhouse, took a course at Jesus College, Cambridge, being graduated in 1888. Returning to Montreal, Lieut.-Col. Yates entered upon a course in medicine at McGill, and was graduated with the degree of M.D., C.M., in 1893. He took up the practice of his profession in his native city, and took first rank among medical men in Montreal. In addition, he was connected with the Faculty of Medicine of his Alma Mater as lecturer in bacteriology, and was assistant in bacteriology at the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Consul for Norway.

Lieut.-Col. Yates devoted a great deal of attention to the work of the St. John Ambulance Association, and in recognition of his service was, in 1910, created an Esquire of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem. He was for a number of years Consul-General for Norway in Montreal, and in 1908 received the knighthood of St. Olaf, first class, from the King of Norway. A most popular citizen, he was elected an alderman of the city in 1906, and served as such for six years. He took a leading part in the movement to give Montreal clean government, and as chairman of the Fire Committee did much to put that branch of the city's service on a proper footing. Lieut.-Col. Yates served for a year previous to joining No. 3 General Hospital as president of the Quebec Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society. Just previous to his last illness, he was elected the honorary president of the branch.

MEDICOS START WORK.

Returning Fifth Year Students Will Be Given Course Lasting Until July.

The fifth-year medical students who have returned to McGill to resume their studies start work on their interrupted courses this morning. Col. Birkett, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, stated to the McGill Daily yesterday that the seniors who have been serving with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill) will be given an extended course, and will be graduated in July instead of in June, as will happen to the students who remained at their studies.

HON. C. J. DOHERTY GUEST OF HONOR AT LAW DINNER

The Minister of Justice Has Accepted Invitation.

A MCGILL GRADUATE

Is a Most Prominent Figure in the Public Life of the Dominion.

The Hon. Charles Joseph Doherty, statesman, retired judge, and at present Minister of Justice, will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Law Undergraduate Society, which will be held on February 5th, in the Place Viger Hotel.

The Hon. Mr. Doherty is a son of the late Hon. Marcus Doherty, a judge of the Superior Court of the Province of Quebec. He was educated at St. Mary's College, and graduated from McGill in 1876 with the degree of B.C.L., and as winner of the Elizabeth Torrance gold medal. In 1887 he was given the title of Q.C., and in 1893 that of D.C.L. He practised his profession in Montreal, where he became one of the leaders of the bar; successfully pleaded before the Privy Council in England, and was one of the counsel for the Jesuits in a libel suit against the Toronto Mail. For many years he was a professor of civil and international law here at McGill, and was at one time president of the Literary Society.

Appointed a puisne judge of the Superior Court for this province, he retired with a pension in 1906, and has sat for St. Ann's (Montreal) in the House of Commons in the Conservative interest. On October 11th, 1911, he was sworn in as a member of the Borden Cabinet and accepted office as Minister of Justice.

He is a member of the board of directors of many banks and trust companies, and is, in the words of the Montreal Gazette, "esteemed by all classes for his character, his capacity, and his public spirit."

The committee are working hard, and promise to make this dinner the best the society has ever held. A toast list that will provide amusement, as well as an opportunity to hear some of the foremost men of the legal profession speak, is in process of preparation.

Tickets may be purchased from any of the class representatives who are on the committee. In view of the fact that the dinner will be held on a Saturday evening, there is no excuse for non-attendance.

H. R. MULVENA WILL ADDRESS E. T. CLUB

Mr. Mulvena Graduated in Law in 1912, and Comes From the Townships.

The Eastern Townships Club will hold an informal dinner to-night in the Union at 6.15. All the members are requested to turn out, as this is the first meeting of 1916. The committee has deemed it expedient to adjourn early so that any one wishing to attend the debate held by the "Lit" will not be inconvenienced.

The executive is indeed very fortunate in having obtained the consent of Mr. H. R. Mulvena to be present on this occasion to address a few words to the club. Mr. Mulvena needs no introduction to the members. He is, in fact, to be numbered amongst its alumni, and was at one time on the executive, having taken an active part in the inauguration and organization of the club. He is, therefore, very familiar with the spirit of the E. T. C., and likewise with the people of the Townships, hailing from Sherbrooke.

Mr. Mulvena was a member of the graduating class of Law '12, and is at present connected with one of the foremost law firms in the city. It is needless to add that his address will be of great interest to every student from the Townships.

SUMMER SCHOOL FOR MED. JUNIORS IS A POSSIBILITY

Matter Has Been Left in Hands of Col. Birkett.

DECISION EXPECTED SOON

Medical Faculties of Toronto and Queen's Universities Investigating Same Movement.

The question of whether or not the course of the Fourth Year Medical students, who wish to be graduated in order to volunteer for active service, will be prolonged during the summer months, now rests in the hands of Col. H. S. Birkett, Dean of the Faculty. Col. Birkett informed The McGill Daily that a meeting of the committee formed to inquire into the matter was held last week, and that the question was left in his hands that it might be taken up with the War Office as well as with Canadian Militia Headquarters. This will be done in order to find out the exact need for medical men at the front at the present time.

In response to the persistent appeals for medical service overseas, and also to the desire to serve in this great war emergency by putting their technical training where it would be of the greatest value, the members of the class of Medicine '17, in November of last year, petitioned the Faculty of Medicine, asking that the course required for the Fifth year be extended on through the summer months. At this time the Faculty did not consider the demand urgent enough to warrant so radical a change in the medical curriculum.

Demand For Medical Service.

Since last November, however, the situation has changed considerably, and to-day, instead of a lessening of the demand for medical service, it has become increasingly great.

Realizing this fact, the class of Medicine '17 again approached the Faculty with a similar request. This was discussed at a Faculty meeting on January 8th, and a committee appointed to thoroughly investigate from the proper authorities the real urgency of the situation.

This committee has adopted the course of action stated above.

The authorities at Ottawa have ordered a census to be taken of all the available medical men for overseas service, and it is expected that a definite reply will be forthcoming in the very near future.

The Medical Faculties of both Toronto and Queen's Universities have the same question under consideration, although no definite action has yet been taken.

While feeling keenly about getting into active service at the earliest possible moment, the students are fully aware of the difficulties that will be present if such a course were given, not so much for themselves, but for the members of the teaching staff of the University.

JOIN FIELD AMBULANCE

Three More Students of the Wesleyan
College Among Latest to Enlist.

Three first year students of the Wesleyan College are among the latest recruits to join No. 9 Field Ambulance, now being formed in this city. They are: H. Townshend, who previously took a course at Queen's University; R. Bee and Baxter Warr. The men of the unit commence stretcher drill to-day, and will also attend clinics at the Montreal General Hospital and the Royal Victoria Hospital. Capt. F. J. Tees, Med. '05, who is an officer of No. 9 Field Ambulance, is delivering a course of lectures on "Sanitation."

R. Hamilton, Med. '20, who was with No. 2 Field Ambulance at Sherbrooke, has been transferred to No. 9.

MCGILL WON AND LOST.

Seniors Won in Game With the North Branch, While Juniors Were Defeated.

On Saturday evening two fast games of basketball were played at the North Branch Y.M.C.A. between representative teams from McGill University and the North End.

The seniors were just a little better than their opponents, winning by a margin of four points, after a closely-contested game. At half-time the North End led by 19-8, but, by magnificent playing, the Collegians overcame the lead in the second half, winning by a score of 35-31. The seniors were as follows: H. Ferguson and Willisroft, guards; Faus, centre; Pitts and Upham, forwards.

The junior game, which preceded the "big game," was won by the North End in easy fashion, by a margin of 16 points. Final score, 48-32.

past as regards attendance, will confer a favor on the executive by endeavoring to "bring them out" tonight.

Lieutenant-Colonel Yates

The death of Lieut.-Col. Henry Brydges Yates marks the first break which has been made in the long list of members of the teaching staff of the University who are on active service, as well as the first in the personnel of No. 3 Canadian General Hospital, the McGill unit which has done such splendid work among the wounded in France.

Lieut.-Col. Yates was a man in whom the qualities of good nature, ability, and good judgment, were most happily blended. While an undergraduate in Medicine at McGill, he began to show in a marked manner the traits which in after life stood him in such good stead, and gained for him the respect and friendship of so many. Fond of athletics, and anxious to do anything which might advance the interests of the student body, he was very naturally found on the football team of the University, and occupying offices in various other undergraduate organizations. Each of these recognized in him a man whose services were of great worth. In athletics he was possessed of a remarkable enthusiasm, and it was this enthusiasm, carried into the pursuits of after-life, which gained for him such widespread recognition as a model citizen and true soldier.

After leaving the University, Lieut.-Col. Yates retained his connection with Old McGill in many ways, but in none more prominently than in the field of athletics. Promoters and leaders of the athletic side of college life found in him a friend, who was always ready to lend his assistance in one way or another. The services which he rendered towards the placing of intercollegiate football in Canada on a proper basis were of great benefit, and the Yates Cup, given to promote competition in the Intercollegiate Rugby Football Union, will form a lasting remembrance of the devoted interest taken by Lieut.-Col. Yates in the fostering of clean, healthy sport in Canadian Universities. As a lecturer in bacteriology in the Faculty of Medicine, and as a graduate possessing unflinching interest in all phases of activity of the University, Lieut.-Col. Yates sought to keep in touch with all that went on at his Alma Mater. Any duties he was called upon to perform, any tasks which fell to his lot, he always fulfilled cheerfully and diligently.

Lieut.-Col. Yates' military experience, begun as assistant medical officer in the Militia, and continued through twenty-two years in the medical services, was immediately offered to the authorities upon the outbreak of war. For several months he was engaged in the direction of medical work in this Division. Although his duties in this connection were onerous, and necessitated the expenditure of a large measure of his time and attention, they were discharged with so much thoroughness and ability as to call forth special commendation from Headquarters.

When No. 3 Canadian General Hospital was raised, Lieut.-Col. Yates, because of his experience and the aptitude which he had shown towards the fulfillment of such duties, was created Company Officer of the unit, with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, second in command. As Company Officer, he was called upon to attend to matters which required a grasp of detail and the exercise of good judgment at all times. Few were better qualified for the office, or could have carried out its requirements with greater satisfaction to all. Numerous letters received from members of the Hospital bear witness to the popularity of "The Big Chief" (as he was often affectionately called) with both patients and personnel. Towards one and all he showed a thoughtfulness and consideration, which gained for him a high place in their regard.

Lieut.-Col. Yates will long be remembered at McGill as a kindly, courteous gentleman, as a citizen who served his community well and faithfully, and as a soldier who laid down his life nobly in the endeavor to give of the best he had for the benefit of his Empire and his fellow-men.

"THE REGENERATION" AT THE CONNAUGHT.

"The Regeneration" is a cross-section of New York life, with an appeal that is universal. In every man's life are two entities, the evil and the good. Owen Conway, the leader of a Bowery gang, and the "bouncer" of a frightful dive, rescues Marie Rose Deering, a pretty little school teacher, from insult at the hands of one of his followers. By this chance meeting the good in him is aroused. The big, rough gangster becomes as a little child under the tutelage of his good angel, whom he calls, with reverential affection, "My Mamie Rose."

But in the very flower of his love, death robs him of the influence that has ennobled him and worked his regeneration from the dregs of life. This photo-dramatization of what Hall Caine, the famous author, has called the most remarkable book ever written, is the true story of the life of its author, Owen Kildare, a man who has been acclaimed the world over as one of the most original geniuses that inspiration has so far produced.

This story, along with a full programme of comedies and other interesting films, will be shown at the Connaught every day this week.

SENIOR PLAY COMMITTEE.

A meeting of the Senior Play Committee will be held in the Royal Victoria College to-day, at four o'clock. It is urgently requested that all be present, as important business is to be transacted.

THIRTEEN HUNDRED MCGILL MEN WEARING KHAKI; CAPT. LIGHTSTONE AWARDED MILITARY CROSS.

LIEUTENANT EDMUND F. NEWCOMBE SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Popular Graduate in Law Was Serving With the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry—Capt. Lightstone a Veteran of the Spanish-American and Boer Wars—Hugh C. Warburton, Rhodes Scholar, Returns From South Africa, Where He Was On Active Service With the Forces of Gen. Botha.

J. M. Atkins, 1898 Robson street, Vancouver, B.C., has received official advice stating that his son, Lieut. Basil Elmo Atkins, Arts '13, who has been serving with the 7th Battalion, North Staffordshire Regiment, B.E.F., has been wounded. No particulars of Lieut. Atkins' injuries are given, but news despatches have related how the gallant Staffords covered the evacuation of the Gallipoli peninsula by the Allied forces, and it is assumed that he was wounded at that time. Lieut. Atkins was at Oxford when war was declared, but forsook his studies for the field as soon as the call went forth.

Second Lieut. Louis Ferdinand Regnard, Sci. '15, is reported wounded in a recent British casualty list. He is a McGill man, who left the class of Science '15 after the session of 1914-15, and joined the Royal Engineers at the outbreak of war. He obtained his commission in November, 1915. He completed his training at Chatham, England, and was a year ago posted to the 63rd Field Company, 9th Scottish Division, at Aldershot. During the summer he went to the front.

Dr. Hyman Livingstone, Med. '10, is the latest McGill man to receive recognition because of his services at the front. Dr. Lightstone, who is serving as a captain in the Royal Army Medical Corps, has cable relatives in the city that he had been awarded the Military Cross for distinguished service. Dr. Lightstone is a veteran of the Boer War and the Spanish-American war, in both of which he served as a private. When war broke out in August, 1914, he immediately joined the Royal Army Medical Corps as a lieutenant. He was then in private practice in London, England. Latterly, he has been serving as a captain in the R.A.M.C., and has been twice mentioned in despatches by Field Marshal Sir John French for distinguished service. Capt. Lightstone is a brother of Madame Pauline Sevelhae (Mme. Donald), the Canadian operatic singer and distinguished graduate of the Royal Victoria College. He is a son of Michael Lightstone, a Russian Jew, who came to Canada in 1872. A brother, Gordon Lightstone, is serving with the Canadian Medicals at Salonika, while Abraham, another brother, holds the rank of corporal in the Army Service Corps.

Lieut. Edmund Freeman Newcombe, Arts '11, Law '13, is the latest McGill man to be reported in the Canadian casualty lists. Lieut. Newcombe, who is serving with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, has been seriously wounded. He was very well known in undergraduate affairs while at McGill, and held the office of Speaker of the Mock Parliament among others. Last winter he joined the 21st Battalion, C.E.F., as a lieutenant, and was stationed with it at Kingston until the unit left for England. There he was transferred to the Princess Pats. Lieut. Newcombe is a son of E. L. Newcombe, K.C., of the Department of Justice, Ottawa, and a graduate of Ashbury College, in that city.

According to "The McGillian" of December 19, eight other officers of No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill) have left the unit temporarily, and are now holding posts in England. These are Captains Howell, Hutchinson, Robertson, Wickham, Reford, McKim, Malone and Henderson.

Capt. Robertson has been appointed temporary M. O. to the office of the Director of Recruiting and Organization; Captain Howell, anaesthetist and sanitary officer to the Military Hospital, Shorncliffe; Captain Malone is on duty at the Pathological Laboratory of the same institution; Captain Wickham is at present stationed at the Eye and Ear Hospital, Folkestone, and Capt. McKim is temporarily detailed for duty as M. O. to the 39th Battalion. Captains Reford, Henderson and Hutchinson have been appointed temporary members of the Standing Medical Board.

A cable to the Montreal Star says that Major A. C. Geddes, of the Northumberland Fusiliers, has been gazetted Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General. Major Geddes held the chair of Anatomy in the Faculty of Medicine at McGill before leaving to join the British Army in October, 1915. He was the man responsible for the evolution of the McGill Contingent, C.O.T.C., into a full battalion. For some time after joining the Northumberland Fusiliers, Major Geddes was engaged in the work of training in England. Latterly he has been attached to the staff of Sir John French in France.

Ignatius Timothy Trebitsch Lincoln, the former member of Parliament and self-confessed German spy, who has escaped from custody in New York, where he was under arrest charged with forgery, is a former student of the Montreal Presbyterian College. Lincoln, or Trebitsch as he was then known, entered the P. C. in 1901, and in the following year was appointed Jewish missionary in this city by the Presbyterian Church. Later, he joined the Anglican Church.

YATES, LIEUT.-COLONEL HENRY BRYDGES, Med. '03, No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill), died on active service.

DISTINCTIONS.

LIGHTSTONE, CAPT. HYMAN, Med. '10, Royal Army Medical Corps, awarded Military Cross.

Through the courtesy of the Registrar of the University, "The McGill Daily" has been permitted to examine advance proofs of the Honor Roll of Enlistments for Active Service in the Great War, which is about to be issued by the University for general circulation. This Roll of Honor, although by no means complete, contains the names of 1,294 McGill men, past and present, who are on active service. These names are divided as follows:

|  |       |
|--|-------|
| Members of the Staff                         | 59    |
| Graduates                                    | 705   |
| Undergraduates                               | 427   |
| Post Students                                | 149   |
| Total  | 1,340 |
| Deduct names appearing on more than one list | 46    |
| Total  | 1,294 |

It is in order that the Roll of Honor may be brought up to date, and that cases of omission and correction may be rectified, that the list is to be given to the public. "The following list of McGill graduates, undergraduates and past students, who have enlisted for active service in the great war," reads the foreword, "is of necessity very imperfect. Many names should undoubtedly be added, and many corrections made. As it is desired to make the record as complete as possible, the Registrar will be greatly obliged for any information in this connection, so that future issues may be brought more nearly up to date than this—the first—one is."

Examination of the list shows that a total of 33 McGill men are known to have given up their lives while on active service. Many others have been wounded, while not a few have been awarded military decorations.

Those who have either been killed in action, died of wounds or died while in training, are the following:

BAILY, H. R. D., Agr. '16, corporal, 13th Battalion, C.E.F. Killed in action.

BONE, JOHN T., Sci. '14, lieutenant, Royal Flying Corps, drowned while on a perilous military mission, October 18, 1915.

BROTHERHOOD, W. C., Sci. '12, lieutenant, 14th Batt., C.E.F. Killed in action.

CAMPBELL, ALEX., Sci. '07, First Canadian Division. Died while training.

COWEN, R. P., Sci. '06, lieutenant, Border Regiment, M.E.F. Died at the Dardanelles from drinking water poisoned by the Turks.

CROSLY, CECIL, lieutenant, 5th Royal Irish Fusiliers. Killed in action.

DILLON, W. P., Med. '04, major, No. 2 Canadian General Hospital. Accidentally killed in France.

DRUMMOND, G. M., Arts '09, captain, 13th Battalion, C.E.F. Killed in action.

DUGGAN, H. S., Sci. '12, lieutenant, Royal Engineers. Died of wounds.

DUVAL, J. L., Med. '08, major, No. 1 Field Ambulance, C.E.F. Died of wounds.

ELDERKIN, V. C., Sci. '12, private, 14th Battalion, C.E.F. Killed in action.

EVANS, A. J. L., Sci. '11, lieutenant, 3rd Battalion, C.E.F., attached to First Brigade Mining Section. Died of wounds.

FISHER, FRED., Sci. '17, lance-corporal, 13th Battalion, C.E.F. Killed in action.

GREEN, F. D. L., lieutenant, 4th Battalion, C.F.A. Killed in action.

HAGUE, O. C. F., Sci. '09, lieutenant, 7th Battalion, C.F.A. Killed in action.

HELMER, A. H., Sci. '14, lieutenant, 4th Battalion, C.F.A. Killed in action.

HOLLINSEED, R. E. L., Sci. '13, lance-corporal, 4th Battalion, C.E.F. Killed in action.

LAKE, J. L. E. R., Sci. '16, lieutenant, Border Regiment, M.E.F. Died of wounds at the Dardanelles.

LESTER, W. R., Sci. '18, private, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. Killed in action.

MACKAY, A. H., Sci. '15, gunner, 21st Battery, C.F.A. Died on active service.

Major A. Campbell P. Howard, Arts '07, Med. '01, who has been serving with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill) in France, has sailed on his return to Canada. He will resume his duties at the University of Iowa.

Dr. James R. McLean, Med. '08, has been appointed medical officer of the 119th Algonia Battalion, now being formed at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., under Lieut.-Col. P. T. Rowland. Dr. McLean has been practising at the Soo and has been medical officer of the 51st Regiment of Militia for the last two years.

Dr. Thomas J. Scobie, Med. '13, is one of six brothers, sons of Cyrus Scobie, of Kars, Ont., who are now on active service with the Canadian forces. Dr. Scobie, with a practice at Hazeldean, Ont., has joined the Royal Army Medical Corps as a lieutenant, and now waits the call to go overseas.

Capt. J. A. Crozier, Med. '02, has returned to Canada in charge of a party of disabled soldiers. Before leaving for the front, Capt. Crozier was one of the best known physicians at the head of the Great Lakes and had a large and ever-growing practice. He was attached to the 8th Battalion, C.E.F., as medical officer.

Dr. Ernest Rommel, Med. '05, is now attached to the hospital staff in connection with the Imperial army at London. Dr. Rommel enlisted at Earl Grey, Sask., and sailed for England the latter part of November. He has a lieutenant's commission in the Royal Army Medical Corps.

Major C. A. Young, Med. '05, is returning to Canada in charge of a party of wounded men. He has been serving with the Army Medical Corps in France.

R. R. Duffy, Sci. '12, is serving as a sapper in the Canadian Engineers at Ottawa.

H. H. Kitchener, Sci. '15, is serving in the Royal Flying Corps.

Donald (Pink) Blair, the former star McGill hockey player, who went overseas with the Sifton machine-gun brigade of the first Canadian division, is shortly to receive a commission in the British regiment. He is a son of the late Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals.

J. J. Mathieson, Med. '03, has been promoted to a captaincy in the Royal Army Medical Corps.

E. C. MacDermot, Sci. '12, who has been serving with the 2nd Divisional Signal Company at the front, has received a commission as lieutenant in the British Army.

Major A. B. MacEwen, Sci. '12, recently wounded, is now at Letouquet with a shell wound in his head. He was serving with the Third Canadian Field Artillery.

Lieut. George Lemcserler, a past student of McGill, is now attached to the 23rd Reserve Battalion, C.E.F., at Shorncliffe, and is taking the Field Officers' Course. He served earlier in the war with the 8th Battalion, C.E.F., and was wounded.

E. A. Corbett, general secretary of the McGill Y.M.C.A., has received a postcard from Signaller Ernest Peden, Sci. '12, serving with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, at the front, showing Pte. Peden in the goatskin coat which has been issued to the Pats. Pte. Peden left with the First Universities Company. He was last year demonstrator in structural engineering in the Faculty of Applied Science.

Laurence H. Gass, Sci. '12, is undergoing training at the School of Heavy Artillery at Quebec.

C. C. ("Quiller") Graham, Arts '15, has been attending the Royal School of Artillery at Kingston.

Dr. G. E. Bayfield, Med. '08, has been appointed captain in the Royal Army Medical Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jamieson, 430 Strathcona avenue, Westmount, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ethel Beatrice, to Lieut. Charles H. Ivey, Sci. '11, of London, Ont., with the Canadian Engineers at Ottawa.

Capt. R. H. McGibbon, Med. '11, and Capt. Harry P. Wright, Med. '14, are now connected with the Canadian Cavalry Field Ambulance. Capt. McGibbon was formerly with No. 1 Field Ambulance, C.E.F., and Capt. Wright with No. 7 Field Ambulance, C.E.F.

The Rev. John L. Morrow, Theol. '04, the "Athletic Parson," minister of Dale Presbyterian Church, Toronto, has been mentioned for a commission in the new Sportsmen's Battalion, to be commanded by Lieut.-Col. (to be) R. H. Greer, formerly Crown Attorney of the Queen City. It is understood that Mr. Morrow is ready to go either as a combatant officer or a chaplain, or in any other capacity in which he can be of service to the new battalion. He is a great favorite among the athletes of the city, and is a champion sprinter himself, or was in his younger days. While at McGill he set records in sprinting which have yet to be beaten. He has had some military training, having commanded a company of the Toronto Home Guard last year. It is stated that Mr. Morrow would even be willing to sacrifice his famous long hair and wear a cap, both of which he would have to do, of course, if he was taken on the strength of his Canadian Expeditionary Forces.

Capt. Cyril G. Child, Sci. '11, who has recently returned from the front, after serving with the Cycle Corps and being wounded, has just been promoted to the rank of major.

Lieut. G. D. Webster, Sci. '04, Royal Engineers, who was reported dangerously wounded on January 7th, is now convalescing, according to a cable received by Mrs. T. A. Richardson, his sister, who resides at Richmond. He will shortly be moved either to Southern France or England.

E. Douglas Alexander, Sci. '14, has completed his course at the Provisional School of Infantry at Kingston. His home is in Westmount.

Dr. J. S. McCallum, Smith's Falls, Ont., is the proud father of three stalwart sons, all of whom are somewhere in France doing their bit in the great war of freedom. All of them are Canadian university graduates. Pte. F. Harold McCallum, of the Divisional Cycle Corps, was a theological student, and graduated in Arts from the University of Toronto. Lieut. John S. McCallum, Arts '07, Med. '09, joined the Royal Army Medical Corps, and is attached to the 10th Gloucester Regiment as surgeon. Lieut. George H. McCallum, Sci. '07, civil engineer, is attached to A Company, Divisional Engineers.

George E. Cole, Arts '02, Sci. '06, has left on overseas service with a Tunneling Company, Canadian Engineers, raised at Calgary, Alta. He holds the rank of lieutenant.

E. Russell Patterson, Arts '09, and Charles S. DeGruchy, Sci. '11, leave on overseas service shortly as lieutenants in charge of reinforcements for No. 1 Siege Battery, Canadian Heavy Artillery.

According to information which has just reached the University, Lieut. G. E. (Buster) Reid, 3rd Battalion, C.E.F., who has been twice wounded at the front, is about to return to Canada. He will likely lose three fingers because of his latest wound.

Lieut. Reid went across with the 23rd Battalion, Westmount Rifles, and was drafted from that unit into the 3rd Battalion, in which he has done remarkably good work, being mentioned in despatches by Sir John French for his gallant conduct.

The marriage of Miss Sylvia Robertson, of Calgary, Alta., and Capt. Cyril G. Child, Sci. '11, will take place in Calgary on January 26th.

Lieut. James H. McKeown, Arts '14, is still in England, attached to the

MEMBERS OF ARTS '16 THANK CLASS FOR XMAS BOXES

H. S. Everett and Lieut. E. H. Chauvin Both Write.

RIFLES ACTING INFANTRY

The 1st and 2nd C.M.R. Brigades Now Form the 8th Infantry Brigade.

Herbert S. Everett, Arts '16, now with the 6th C.M.R., writes thanking his class for the Christmas presents which they sent him.

"Please convey to my old classmates of Arts '16 my appreciation of their kindness in remembering me at Christmas time. The very useful drinking cup arrived the other day, and, believe me, I was more than pleased to get it. It is, indeed, very gratifying to know that those left at McGill are thinking of us out here.

"Perhaps you would like to hear something about the 6th C.M.R., and I will try to give you a short account of its doings, and more particularly of those of the 2nd C.M.R. Brigade.

"The 6th mobilized at Amherst, N.S., last winter, and, after a few months spent there, moved to Valcartier, and joined the 4th and 5th, making up the 2nd C.M.R. Brigade under Col. Charles Smart. After our training was completed in Valcartier we sailed for England, arriving there after an uneventful ten days' passage. We were camped near Shorncliffe, which is part of Folkestone, quite a famous summer resort. About the 1st of October we sailed for France, having volunteered to go to the front dismounted. We were in billets not far from the firing line for about two weeks, and then each troop spent twenty-four hours in the trenches to get used to the routine. Since that time we have spent two weeks in reserve and front line trenches, and the rest of the time we supplied working parties, which took us usually to the front line at night. We were part of the Corps Troops, and so had no regular tours to do in the trenches. It was quite evident that our cavalry organization was very awkward when taking over trenches, etc., so it was decided to turn us into regular infantry, and this has now been accomplished. The 1st and 2nd C.M.R. Brigades have been re-organized into one infantry brigade, and in this re-organization the 3rd and 6th Regiments have lost their identity and been absorbed by the older regiments. Our squadron, B, from New Brunswick, has been attached, with the M.G. section, to the 4th C.M.R., as the nucleus of a fourth company.

Regiment Broken Up.

"So this New Year's Day is not a particularly happy one to us of the poor old 6th. We dislike very much to see our regiment broken up and dispersed through no fault of our own. But, of course, it is for the good of the cause generally, so we must make the best of it. We are to go through a six weeks' infantry syllabus, and then will take our place as the 8th Infantry (C.M.R.) Brigade of the Third Division.

"I was very much pleased to see a copy of The Daily, with the names of all McGill grads, undergrads, and past students who have volunteered for overseas service. We are all proud of the showing McGill has made, and those of Arts '16 are proud of their old class, which has not been found wanting. I am the only undergrad in the 6th, but there are two Science grads, while in the 5th no less than five of the class of '16 are to be found. Lieut. Ed. Chauvin, Sergs. Joe Harold and Ed. Barrett, and Corps. Ralston and Charlie Martin; they are all well, and I see them quite often. There are five or six more McGill men in the 5th, among them Sergt. Paul Clark, Arts '15, and Corp. Jess of the same year. Col. Baker, commanding that regiment, is a McGill graduate. In the 4th, the only undergrad I know is Bishop, of Med. '18.

"I met Howard Cliff, of Arts '16, in England; he was in the P.P.C.L.I. then, but has since obtained a commission, and is at present in Egypt, I believe with the Northumberland Fusiliers. Homer Matthews, of Arts '12, has also taken out a commission in K's Army. Cumming, of Med. '13, was attached to our regiment for about a week while our M.O. was sick. Freddie Donald, Arts '16, is over here, and the last I heard of him he was as energetic as ever. Prof. Rose is in the Intelligence Department in London. I saw Hob Gilmore the other day; he with Jack Copeland, Arts '16, Rolfe Struthers, and the MacKenzie brothers, of Med., are in the 6th Field Ambulance, which is not far from here.

"The weather here is not bad at all now; very little cold weather so far, but quite a lot of rain, which makes it bad in the trenches. We have been in billets for over two weeks, and, of course, will remain there while taking the infantry course. I have had a couple of courses in grenade work, which I find very interesting and exciting. Glad to hear that Major Magee is to raise a battalion; the C.O. T.C. has certainly done great work.

"Well, as dinner is nearly ready, I must stop writing. We won't be quite as jolly over this New Year's dinner as we were over the Christmas one, which was quite a 'spread,' turkey, etc. Out here each company is billeted separately, and has a separate mess.

"Remember me very kindly to all the class, and especially to the worthy members of Arts and Medicine '19. May you all have the best of success in your final exams and bring the

PLENTY OF MUD AT SHORNCLIFFE SAYS WILLIAMS

Is With the Fourth Universities Company, P.P.C.L.I.

START MUSKETRY WORK

Quartered in Huts, Thirty-Five to Each, Under the Charge Of a Corporal.

The University Daily Missourian publishes the following letter from Pte. Leonard F. Williams, Sci. '18, who went overseas with the Fourth Universities Company:

"We are on brigade duty this week, and no leaves are given. We supply all the pickets, guards and fatigue men for this week. I have been on picket duty twice, eight hours at a stretch. Last night I was on guard at the Folkestone waterworks from 2.30 p.m. yesterday till 9 a.m. to-day. We are two hours on guard and four off. As it rained heavily all the time, I was glad when the relief turned up. Picket duty is similar to police work—quelling rows, etc.

"Ever since we arrived the weather has been wet—in mud up to our ankles most of the time on the parade ground. We are quartered in big huts, about 35 to a hut—rather crowded, but comfortable. The hut is under control of a corporal. We sleep on boards raised on two stands, a mattress full of straw on top of that, then four blankets. We certainly need all the blankets, as it gets very cold sometimes.

"Next week we start shooting on the ranges at Hythe, about eight miles from here; have to walk there and back, carrying rubber sheet, blanket and mess tin. Doesn't sound much, but weighs nearly a ton about 6 p.m.

"We were paid to-day, and I am richer by 3 pounds sterling. I think they are skinning us, as 3 pounds is not worth $15. Anyway, we are not supposed to be here for the money.

"There are a lot of wounded soldiers here, some very badly cut up, so we have a good idea of what we are running against. I am a private. There are a lot of engineers in the company, civil and electrical being in the majority."

John S. Reiffenstein, Sci. '18, serving with the 26th Battery, C.F.A., has been promoted to the rank of bombardier.

WEEKLY DEBATES IN STRATHCONA HALL

Members of Law Faculty Will Debate To-night in the French Language.

The weekly debates, under the auspices of the Literary and Debating Society, will be held this evening, at the usual hour, in the Strathcona Hall.

Representatives from the Senior Year in Law will meet at their adversaries' representative members from Law '17. A novel feature is to be inaugurated in this debate, as it is to be held in the French language by French-Canadian undergraduates of the Law Faculty. An innovation of this nature will doubtless appeal to a great number of McGill students, who will appreciate an inauguration of this kind in "The Lit." by ensuring a large attendance.

The resolution reads as follows: Resolved, that hereditary titles should be extended to the British Colonies. Law '16 will take the affirmative.

The second debate will be held between representatives of Arts '18 and Science '18 upon the resolution: Resolved, that Theodore Roosevelt should be elected President of the United States in 1916. The class of Arts '18 will maintain the negative. It is anticipated that this debate will be one of the best held this season by "The Lit."

BULLET IN HEART.

Among the wounded in the Norfolk and Norwich Hospital is a young soldier with a shrapnel bullet in his heart. He is Corporal R. M. Leyden, of the 7th Northumberland Fusiliers. His extraordinary wound was received just after the advance at Loos. It was afterward found in hospital that his case was of peculiar interest from a surgical standpoint. The bullet had passed through the lung and was imbedded in the muscle of the heart. There the surgeons decided to leave it, for the good reason that the patient is clearly getting better. It is on record that a bullet was removed from a soldier's heart at a French hospital, but the patient died three days after the operation.

class of '16 to a glorious end. Thank you again for the Christmas present, which I shall always prize very much, not only for its actual usefulness, but also for its great intrinsic value.

"Yours sincerely,
"HERBERT E. EVERETT."

Lieut. Chauvin Thanks Class.

Lieut. E. H. Chauvin, Arts '16, who went overseas with the 5th C.M.R., writes thanking his class for the present which they sent to him at Christmas. His letter is as follows: "Kindly convey my thanks to the members of R.V.C. '16 and Arts '16 for the token of remembrance that I have received from them.

"Yours sincerely,
"E. H. CHAUVIN."

WRESTLING CLASS.

The McGill wrestling team will take part in the smoker which is to be given by the McGill C.O.T.C. next Wednesday evening. The proceeds of the smoker are to be donated to the Khaki League. A special practice of the wrestlers has been called for this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Instructor Smith will be on hand, and it is hoped that a large crowd of wrestlers will turn out for this practice.

Lieut.-Col. Yates had been connected with military work for a period of 22 years, and, curiously enough, during nearly the whole of that time in association with Col. Birkett. When Lieut.-Col. Yates entered the Army Medical Services in 1894, it was as assistant to Colonel Birkett, who was then medical officer of the 3rd Victoria Rifles. On Colonel Birkett's retirement from the post in 1901, Lieut.-Col. Yates succeeded him as medical officer, and held that office until his death.

Was A. D. M. S. Here.

When war broke out, Lieut.-Col. Yates was as his summer residence, "Gaywood," at Cacouna. Col. Birkett was then acting assistant director of Medical Services for this division, with headquarters at Montreal. His duties as Dean of the Faculty of Medicine at McGill began in October, and it was necessary that he relinquish his post at headquarters. Naturally enough, he recommended Lieut.-Col. Yates as his successor, and he was duly appointed. He entered upon his duties with zeal and vigor, and performed tasks which called for a great deal of hard work, executive ability and good judgment, so creditably as to elicit special praise and commendation from his superiors. During his administration he directed all the medical work in connection with the raising and equipping of the 22nd and 24th Battalions, the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles, the 27th Battery, C.F.A., the 42nd Highlanders, 1st Canadian Reserve Park, Borden Armoured Battery, No. 4 Stationary and No. 3 General Hospitals. When the last-named unit was organized, Lieut.-Col. Yates accepted the post of second in command and company officer, again under Colonel Birkett. He served with the Hospital in France until his removal to England in November.

A Famous Footballer.

The death of Lieut.-Col. Yates marks the passing of one of McGill's great footballers of the early nineties. He was for several years a valued member of the senior football team, and helped the Red and White to win the championship of the Quebec Rugby Football Union in 1890. He was at that time also president of the Rugby Club. A photograph of this celebrated team, presented to the Athletic Association "with the compliments of Dr. Yates," hangs in the lounge room of the McGill Union. Later, Dr. Yates presented the Yates Cup, now held by the University of Toronto, as emblematic of the championship of the Intercollegiate Rugby Football Union. With the late Lord Ave and Mr. Morton Paton, he presented a silver kettle to the Montreal Ladies' Curling Club for competition, and afterwards gave the Ave medal to the same club. Lieut.-Col. Yates held office on the executive of the Canadian Amateur Skating Association, and was one of the original trustees of the Allan Hockey Cup.

When he went overseas with No. 3 General Hospital, Lieut.-Col. Yates realized the importance of providing amusements for the men of his unit when off duty. He therefore early in the summer organized working committees to take charge of the different games—tennis, baseball, football and cricket. He stimulated further interest in these sports by initiating competitions and by giving prizes. Occasionally, Lieut.-Col. Yates took part in these contests. One feature of his work in this connection in France was the arranging of a series of baseball games with the Harvard medical men from the 22nd General Hospital stationed nearby.

Lieut.-Col. Yates was in politics a Conservative. He was a Freemason and a member of the Church of England. He belonged to various clubs in the city.

There survive a wife, Alice Mary, only daughter of the late C. W. Bunt, M.P., of Toronto; one son, Pte. Montagu Yates, bugler with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital, and one daughter, Miss Emily Yates. Mrs. Yates and Miss Yates were with Lieut.-Col. Yates when he passed away.

Flags were flying at half-mast on the University buildings as a mark of respect for Lieut.-Col. Yates. A memorial service will be held in Christ Church Cathedral.

R.V.C. '16.

At a meeting held Friday of R.V.C. '16, Miss Weinfeld and Miss McCall were elected speakers for the coming Senior-Sophomore debate. Miss Fraser was appointed to look after the arrangements for the class photograph.

DR. THORNTON TO SPEAK.

Dr. A. S. Thornton, of the Department of Dentistry, will speak in Brockville, Ont., on February 11, on his experiences on the battle front.

TELLS OF LAST STAY OF "PATS" IN FRONT LINE

Were Engaged in the Digging of Support Trenches.

PTE. MAWDSLEY'S INJURY

"A Real Good Boy," His Corporal Calls McGill Science Student.

(Special to The Daily.)

Ottawa, Jan. 23.—Cable advice received to-day from England state that Pte. J. B. Mawdsley, A11107, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, is progressing favorably.

Slight details of the manner in which Pte. James B. Mawdsley, Sci. '17, was wounded are supplied in a letter from Corporal Oscar Harvey, a Queen's man, serving with the P.P.C.L.I. Corporal Harvey states the P.P.C.L.I. have plenty of ammunition now, and they look for a big drive in the spring. His letter, under date of January 3, reads as follows:

"Just a few lines to let you know how things are going. I spent Christmas in Belgium, and we were up there digging support trenches, which, in a way, is very dangerous work. We were south of Y—. We were lucky; we only had three casualties—one of them killed and another one of my section, a real good boy (Mawdsley) wounded; shot through the nose and down through the mouth—a bad one.

"That is what makes one sick—to see one of your friends suddenly throw up his hands and sit down with a surprised look on his face. Some of us it frightens; others feel like fixing bayonets and getting even. It makes you swear to think you have to take it.

"Every night we have to go up to the firing line and dig in mud—lots of it—under fire, and work, rain or shine. As things go, it is a hard life. Sometimes things seem so funny one has to sit down and laugh.

Plenty of Ammunition.

"We have to go on with it. If we could advance out of our present predicament, it would raise our spirits. I think in the spring, as soon as it dries up, you will see a big scrap here. We have lots of guns and ammunition now. We can hold this line against anything, and will do it.

"We are forming a 3rd Canadian Division, and we are the only old men in it.

"Talking about guns, I guess we fire fifty rounds to the Huns' one. While we were up last week, the Huns ran a big gun up on a track and shelled our village. It was awful for an hour or so. They killed a bunch of civilians and a few soldiers, including one of our men. They try gas at every opportunity.

"Have seen quite a bit of the country. We marched in easy stages from the sea. Was at — for a while, where the cathedral was, and on to Abbeyville, Etampes, Boulogne, Calais, Hazebrouck, etc. We saw lots of Canadians."

NIGHT ALARMS GIVEN.

Men of Fifth University Company Have a Race to Get Their Clothes On.

The men of the Fifth University Company, P.P.C.L.I., are getting additional tastes of active service conditions every day. The latest way in which their enlistment for active service is brought home to them is by the holding of night alarms, at which the men are required to jump out of bed and be out of the buildings in which they are quartered in a certain time fully clothed. The first test of this kind was held on Friday night, and was carried out in a most satisfactory manner by the men from both Moisson Hall and the McGill Union. The men quartered in Moisson Hall, however, reached a spot in the centre of the campus just fifteen seconds before their fellows from the Union.

This week the men are to be roused some night and put through the same performance. The time of the test is unknown to any except the officers.

THE TEICENTENARY OF SHAKESPEARE

London, Eng.—In a letter to the press, Mr. Gollancz, the honorary secretary to the Shakespeare tercentenary committee, says that arrangements are being made for a very simple and dignified observance of the tercentenary in consonance with the mood of the nations under present conditions. He proposes that the churches should, as is the practice at Stratford itself, pay a tribute of veneration to Shakespeare and all that he represents, on a fixed Sunday near the date of the festival; that actors, if they so desire, should arrange for the special performance of one of the plays, if possible, for the benefit of those members of the profession who have suffered from the war; that school children should be reminded of Shakespeare's ideals as an Englishman and a patriot; and that Empire day should be made to coincide with the date of the festival.

THE INSPIRATION OF BIBLE SUBJECT FOR DEAN'S TALK

Dr. Adams Gave First of Series of Sunday Lectures.

PROPS KNOCKED AWAY

This Is What Generally Happens to Men Coming to University For First Time.

Dean Adams delivered the first of a series of Sunday afternoon lectures in Strathcona Hall yesterday at 4 o'clock. He chose as his topic, "The Inspiration of the Bible," and accounted for this choice by the fact that so many men coming for the first time to the University from the country have the props knocked from beneath their beliefs, and are apt to be reduced to an extremely chaotic state of mind.

The aim of a college education is the discovery of truth, and it is by means of science and philosophy that the student seeks to establish facts. Of late years the Theological Colleges have swung around in their attitude toward the inspiration of the Bible. The old belief that the Bible is a book inspired from cover to cover has to a great extent been gradually and justly displaced by more firmly established views. But men in acquiring these new ideas are only too apt to come to regard the Bible as totally lacking in inspiration. Therefore the question which faces us is how and in what degree the Bible is inspired.

The Dean proceeded to point out the obstacles which stood in the path of the believer in a literally inspired Bible. He mentioned the various translations, the Wycliff, the Tyndale, the Coverdale, the Mathews, the Great Bible, the Geneva Bible, the Breeches Bible, Bishops' Bible, the Authorized Version and the Revised Version. If we are to believe our Authorized or Revised Versions as inspired from cover to cover, we must likewise regard each of the numerous translations which preceded them. But in order to acquire a satisfactory understanding of the question, we must turn our attention further back and consider some of the earliest manuscripts. But even these are written by the original prophets and apostles, so that it is quite evident that the Bible is inspired in spirit and not in actual letter as was formerly and is by many at present believed.

The Bible is according to the modern idea, The Word of God, and though this expression occurs three or four hundred times throughout the Book yet it never refers to itself. People claim for the Bible that which it itself does not claim. Nowhere does it claim to be inspired. With reference to the Bible as a book of the world Dean Adams' deemed it superior in every way to other works of literature. "It is really a library, not a single book. It is a progressive revelation of God to man." A revelation which though during the primitive state of man is limited, broadens and acquires importance as human development progresses. The Bible consists of the teachings of prophets and apostles in their endeavor to lead the people of Israel from fetichism and idolatry to the highest state of Monotheism.

In conclusion Dr. Adams compared inspiration to a stream, which, rising in an isolated spot gradually broadens and increases in volume as it flowed on.

This was as intimated above was the first of a series of lectures to be delivered by Dean Adams on Sunday afternoons in Strathcona Hall. Next Sunday at 4.00 p.m. a lecture will be given upon the subject "Evolution and its relation to religion."

EVERY MAN'S DUTY.

"What Service Can I Render," Is Question We Should Ask.

The Rev. Dr. Gordon, Principal of Queen's University, veteran of the 90th Battalion of Winnipeg, writes on the subject of enlistment:

"The truth may not yet have come home to us, because of our easy confidence that somehow we must win but every day it becomes clearer that the whole fighting force of the Empire must be brought into action if we are to win.

"As a part of a Christian Empire, we are called to do our share in curbing the great fighting power that has brought on this war. A spirit of service and of sacrifice is moving our Empire and our Allies. But the nation is made up of individuals, and unless we would shield ourselves behind better men, each one of us must separately ask himself: 'What service can I render? What give can I offer? What work can I do to help to win this war? Why should not I enlist?'

SONG.

I long to bring thee roses
To grace thy golden hair;
O where thy breath reposes
I'll lay a lily fair.

O where that we were lying
Where flowers sleep in shade,
Hearing the slow wind sighing
Across the greenwood glade.

O world of fields and flowers,
O'er white roads I'll depart;
O love my soul embowers,
I clasp thee to my heart.

Summary of the Doings of Week

The first term exams are over, and the second term has commenced. Social life around the University is to see a revival. The Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. are to hold a skating party on Wednesday, January 26th, on the Campus Rink. This was decided at the meeting of the Students' Council held last Monday, in response to the demand made by the students. A movement was made for better representation of The McGill Daily on the Council, but it was defeated on motion. A number of other matters were dealt with and disposed of.

The hockey team played two games last week, losing to Laval in a one-sided game by 7-0, and winning from the Fifth Universities Company in a practice game on Wednesday by 8-3. The game with Harvard will take place on January 29th in Boston. The basketball teams had a good practice on Thursday, and are rounding into shape. "The Lit" held a meeting last week, when two excellent debates were staged.

A large number of letters appeared in The Daily during the week from various McGill men at the front. They all seemed content, and expressed the conviction that the Allies were sure to win in the long run. The Faculty of Science announced that all men wishing to enlist would be allowed to try
